ART, MUSIC AND THEATER

Blues and Cars

In rock 'n' roll, cars are associated with freedom, independence and sex appeal. In the blues, cars reflect a complicated reality, expressing an ambiguous outlook of African Americans living in rural and urban poverty in the early 20th century toward automobiles. Explore this musical history of ownership and travel for Black Americans.

Instructor: Julia Simon is a musician, cultural historian and professor at UC Davis.

1 Tuesday	Nov. 5	2-3:30 p.m.
242SNR300	$25	Hybrid

Mindful Art

Learn basic mindfulness principles, the neuroscience supporting the practice, meditation techniques and exploratory art practices. Sessions begin with mindfulness instruction and meditation followed by art studio. Participants will use their own art materials to give expression to the lesson's mindfulness experience. No formal art instruction. Beginner and advanced participation welcome.

Instructor: Sue Banducci is a mindfulness instructor credentialed by the Awareness Training Institute.

4 Mondays	Oct. 14-Nov. 4	2-3:30 p.m.
242SNR303	$60	Zoom

Opera Heavyweights: Verdi and Wagner Today

How can music written 180 years ago speak to us today? Even those new to opera are familiar with tunes by Verdi and Wagner. These composers were and are trailblazers, offering a through-line for emerging modern culture, blending beauty with politics, psychology and myth. Explore iconic works like La Traviata, and "the Everest of operas," The Ring Cycle.

Instructor: Judith Frankel has held leadership positions at several performing arts organizations, including San Francisco Opera.

2 Wednesdays	Oct. 2 & 9	2-3:30 p.m.
242SNR305	$40	Hybrid

Know and Love Them: Girl Groups of the 60s

Take an in-depth look at girl groups of the early 1960s, like the Ronettes, the Shirelles and the Shangri-Las. We'll try to put them in historical context, and explore their predecessors and successors. Mostly we'll have fun watching and listening to great music from some historic artists!

Instructor: Vicky Davis is a happily retired attorney and an active musician.

2 Mondays	Sept. 30 & Oct. 7	2-3:30 p.m.
242SNR312	$40	Zoom

FILM STUDY

Double Take: Part Two

Explore films of multiple cultures using the theme 'work', examining close relationships and our sense of self. Sorry We Missed You captures the struggles of a delivery driver's family in Britain's gig economy. The Teacher's Lounge presents a dedicated teacher in Germany caught between her ideals and the education system. In Sweet Bean, a retired woman, specializing in Japanese dorayaki pancakes, impacts a baker's business, working in his kitchen. Selected shorts featured in session one. Fascinating movies, insightful discussion, join us.

Instructors: Kevin Elstob is a university professor of French and Italian, and president of the Sacramento French Film Festival.

Rene Viargues taught a variety of classes, including Art of the Cinema at the California Maritime Academy for 30 years.

4 Tuesdays	Oct. 8-29	1-4 p.m.
242SNR323	$60	Classroom

American Foreign Policy in Film

Americans love their democracy and aspire to strengthen democratic ideals through foreign policy. We'll explore those decisions and what we learn from our past through films. Oppenheimer examines the creation of the first nuclear bomb. The Quiet American illustrates national pre-Vietnam strategies. The Killing Fields and The Year of Living Dangerously depict sacrifices made by journalists and nationals covering war torn landscapes. How do these films contribute to our body of knowledge, and how do we judge their artistic merit?

Instructor: Deberah Bernstein practiced law in Chicago for 30 years and taught at Northeastern Illinois University.

4 Tuesdays	Nov. 12-26 & Dec. 3	1-4 p.m.
242SNR325	$60	Classroom

FOOD, HOME AND GARDEN

Mushrooms: Yolo County and Beyond

Explore mushrooms, including how they are identified, what makes them essential to life on earth, and why specific species occur in certain areas like forests, pastures and gardens. We'll discuss common mushrooms and those potentially toxic to humans and pets. Learn about cultivation methods and the potential health benefits of both edible and medicinal mushrooms.

Instructor: Mike Davis is a retired professor in the Department of Plant Pathology at UC Davis.

1 Wednesday	Oct. 23	2-3:30 p.m.
242SNR410	$25	Classroom

HISTORY

Ancient Greek and Roman Portraits

Was Socrates really the ugliest man in Greece? How did a Roman emperor appear versus the average citizen? The answers lie in portraits from antiquity. Factors such as age, gender and dress seem obvious, but how does one portray character, status and temperament? Explore these questions through a chronological overview of portraits from ancient times.

Instructor: Lynn Roller, professor emerita of art history at UC Davis.

4 Wednesdays	Oct. 30-Nov. 20	2-3:30 p.m.
242SNR330	$60	Hybrid

A World War II Story Through Sketches

Experience World War II through Staff Sgt. Jacob John de Vries' sketches of people and places in France, Austria and Germany in 1944-45. de Vries served in the U.S. 103rd Infantry and First Allied Air Borne Army. Even before his formal art training, he was sketching, including his wartime service. His daughter Janet will include photos from European travels to illustrate sites sketched by her father.

Instructor: Janet de Vries is happily retired after 21 years as a career counselor at Casper College in Wyoming.

1 Thursday	Nov. 14	2-3:30 p.m.
242SNR339	$25	Zoom

The British in Africa

Discuss the British in Africa and their role in the slave trade and its elimination, the search for the source of the Nile, South Africa's Boer Wars, Kenyan white settlements and Mau Mau, Ashanti Wars and the Benin Bronzes, David Livingstone and the Christian missions, and "painting the map pink."

Instructor: Chuck Cooper earned an M.A. in history with an emphasis on the British Empire. He taught courses as a graduate student on multiple British historical subjects.

2 Wednesdays	Oct. 2 & 9	10:30 a.m.-noon
242SNR331	$40	Classroom

Cleopatra: Myth and Reality

Our view of Cleopatra has been shaped in part by Hollywood and other fanciful representations. We'll attempt to separate historically verified facts from the fictional impressions of this fascinating woman. We'll review ancient sources, coins and statues to examine Cleopatra's life as a queen and mistress of two powerful Roman men.

Instructor: Barbara Drushell has degrees in Greek and Latin language from Douglass College and Harvard. She was an instructor at Ohio State University.

2 Tuesdays	Nov. 26 & Dec. 3	10:30 a.m.-noon
242SNR338	$40	Classroom

Freedom to Win: A Cold War Olympics Story

During the Cold War, a group of young men led their small-town, underdog Czechoslovakian hockey team against the Soviet Union, the juggernaut in their sport. Their battle on ice would keep their people's quest for freedom alive and forge a way to rebuke the authoritarian forces that sought to crush them.

Instructor: Ethan Scheiner is a professor of political science at UC Davis.

1 Wednesday	Nov. 6	10:30 a.m.-noon
242SNR333	$25	Zoom

The Salem Witch Trials

Beginning with a brief history of witchcraft, we'll discuss the religious, social and political conditions in the Massachusetts colony and townships. Meet the major actors of the sorcery drama, the accusers, "witches" and trial officials. We'll discuss spectral evidence and the courtroom antics of young accusers, leading to the guilty verdicts and deaths of 20 innocent people.

Instructor: Germaine Hupe is a retired high school teacher of literature and history with an M.A. from Claremont Graduate School.

2 Mondays	Oct. 21 & 28	2-3:30 p.m.
242SNR335	$40	Classroom

LITERATURE

Gustave Flaubert's A Simple Heart

Gustave Flaubert's A Simple Heart is one of the most perfect short stories ever written. This course will explore Flaubert's writing in the context of 19th-century French culture and fiction, and what makes this work a masterpiece.

Instructor: Julia Simon is a professor of French at UC Davis. She regularly teaches a graduate seminar on Flaubert.

1 Thursday	Nov. 21	2-3:30 p.m.
242SNR344	$25	Zoom

"Quiet Resisters" Women in Women's Fiction

This course provides a forum for reading and discussing short fiction about women resisting restrictive social norms. We'll be reading from Great Short Stories by American Women available from internet book sellers.

Instructor: Cynthia Kellogg taught composition and literature, including Women's Literature, at Woodland Community College for 40 years.

4 Mondays	Nov. 18-Dec. 9	2-3:30 p.m.
242SNR340	$60	Zoom

POLITICS AND CURRENT EVENTS

American Political Anomalies: Trump Redux?

The Constitution, recent Supreme Court decisions, partisan legislation and irresponsible social media have produced an anomalous U.S. political/electoral system unlike any other. This course identifies the anomalies, discusses Trump and GOP tactics, predicts the outcome in November and assesses likely consequences for Americans and America's partners abroad.

Instructor: Stephen Hoadley is a retired professor, veteran academic, author and media commentator in New Zealand.

1 Thursday	Oct. 17	2-3:30 p.m.
242SNR363	$25	Zoom

An Election Like No Other

As the nation anticipated a rematch between the two oldest and least popular presidential candidates in history, Joe Biden made headlines by choosing not to seek re-election. We'll discuss what's happening, including prospects for the new Congress. Sessions take place three weeks prior to election day. We'll skip election week with one last session the following week. Be prepared for a respectful, robust discussion. No class November 6.

Instructors: Richard Zeiger is a former journalist who also served on staff to leadership in both the CA Assembly and Senate.

Dan Schnur teaches politics, communications and leadership at UC Berkeley, Pepperdine University and USC's Annenberg School.

Behind the Scenes Tour: Davis Police Department

Everyone relies on police departments for protection and to enforce the laws. But few people know what goes on behind the scenes. This tour will take place at the Davis Police Department to offer a look at how the station is run with the people who work there.

Instructor: Roy Engoron, a UC Davis alumnus, is a retired high school and college instructor. He has been a volunteer at the Davis Police Department since 2004.

1 Tuesday	Oct. 1	1-2:30 p.m.
242SNR368	$25	2600 Fifth St., Davis

In Other News

The firehose of news and information is overwhelming—how are we to make sense of it? Proposed weekly readings help understand a specific topic, event or trend. Subjects will be drawn from the headlines. Through moderated discussion, we'll share thoughts, impressions, knowledge and conclusions. The goal is to keep everyone better informed.

Instructors: Richard Zeiger. See bio above.

A.G. Block spent 25 years writing about California politics and government as editor of California Journal magazine.

8 Mondays	Sept. 30-Nov. 18	10 a.m.-noon
